

Carlos Fernández de Larrea, MD, PhD studied medicine at the Central University of Venezuela in Caracas, obtaining the distinction Summa Cum Laude. He moved to Barcelona where he completed his training in Hematology at Hospital Clínic. His doctoral thesis was on complete remission in multiple myeloma, obtaining the Extraordinary Award of the University of Barcelona in 2012. He has spent training periods at the Institut Pasteur in Paris, the Centre for Systemic Amyloidosis of Pavia and the National Cancer Institute (NIH) in Bethesda. He is currently medical staff of the Department of Hematology at Hospital Clínic de Barcelona / IDIBAPS and member of Amyloidosis and Myeloma Unit.